Witmarsum

Julia,

Remember the good times we had the last two years at Bethany. The banquet, the parties, the college life in general, the trip to Boston were really great. I know we can't go through next year and have to be apart most of the time, but will still remain close friends. Julia I couldn't have asked for a better friend. You have always stuck by me and given me encouragement when I needed it. I hope anything goes wrong for you cause you deserve the best. Lots of Luck! Love

Linda

Julia,
I'm writing in the annual of a girl I think a lot of. Especially since our trip to HC. You dry sense of humor thrills me. And I admire the great way you've stuck by your Mom - That's great - Julia I mean it! God bless always - a whole bunch!

PAUL HARTMAN
BUSINESS MANAGER

To you, Mr. and Mrs. Birkey, this 1968 WITMARSUM is dedicated. Since you came to Bethany in 1959, your services have been indispensable. Your tasks have varied from accounting to maintenance and from managing the bookstore to ordering supplies and equipment. When situations arise and no one seems to be available to do the job, you are there. You have responded without complaint to assist wherever and whenever needed. Your sacrificial service and self-denying efforts to promote high Christian standards have been deeply appreciated. For all this and more we thank you.

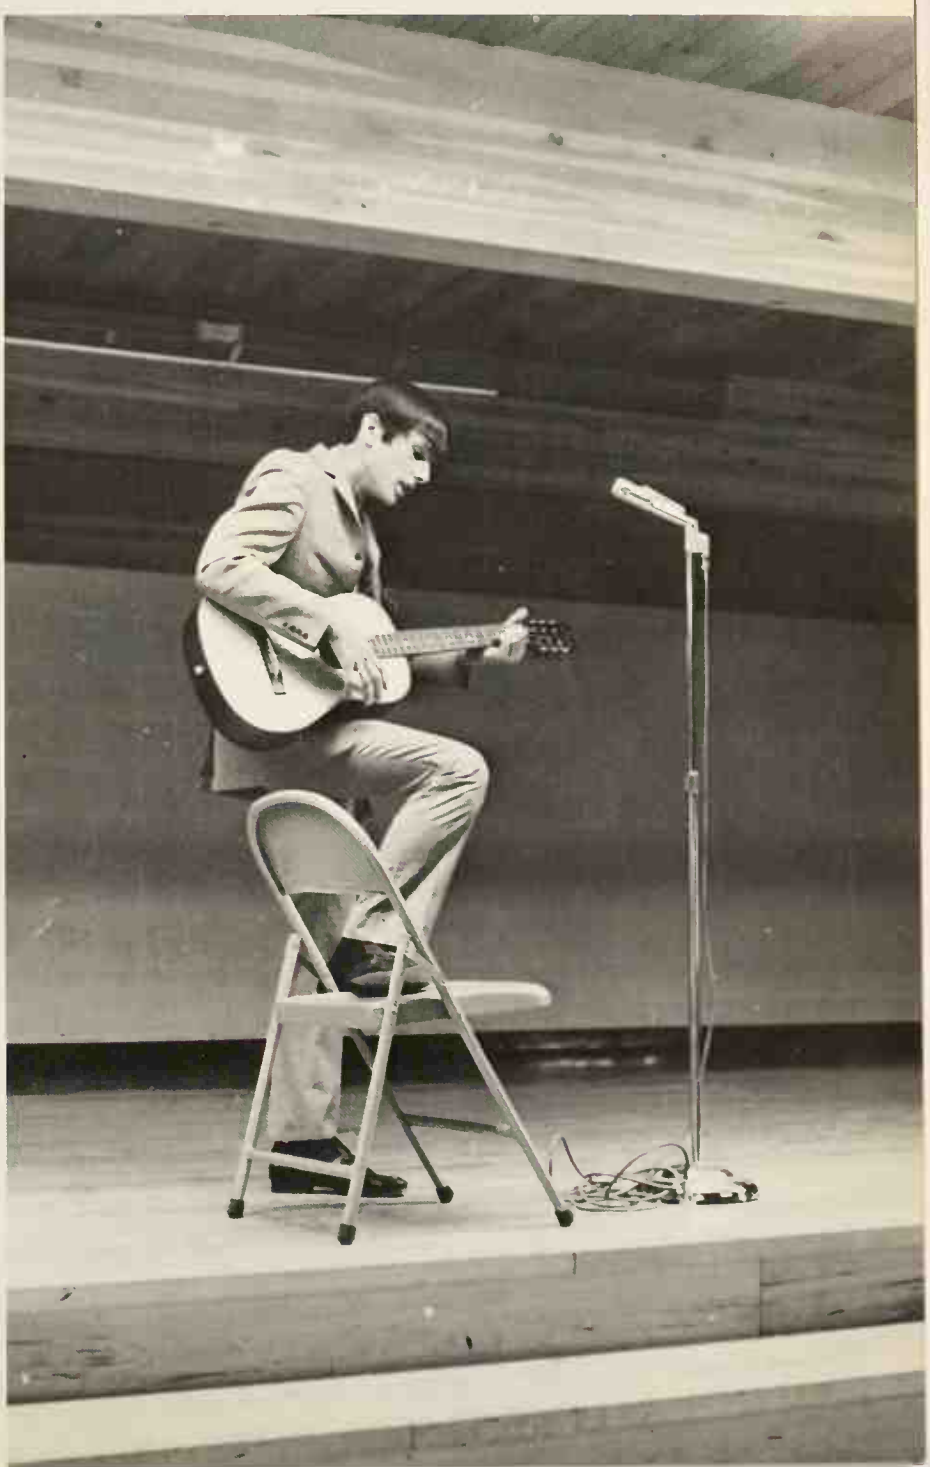
PROGRESSIVE SPIRIT . . .



. . . AND WITH A VIBRANT STUDENT BODY INVOLVED . . .

Bethany Christian High School is and has been many things to many different people.
To its administrators faculty and staff students Bethany Christian High School—1967 has been an expression of involvement.

For those whose responsibility and choice is to guide to instruct and to encourage scholarship the focus of involvement has been on developing "the total man" in Christ and maintaining an atmosphere that promotes this development.

For students, involvement has meant response to this atmosphere
and there has been growth in the intellectual man the social man
the physical man
the spiritual man reminding us that the man who delights in the precepts of God
"shall be like a tree firmly planted by the streams of water . . .
and everything he does shall prosper
and come to maturity."

. . . INVOLVED IN SEIZING EACH

Yes, and there has been growth change in the inner man so complex so diverse dynamic yet subtle that only God knows the mechanics of it.
The means of such change always involve response to that which transcends the shallow concept of self.
It is that larger concept that "we are members
one of another."
In the living out of this concept we constantly encounter Christ and we grasp the secret of correct interpretation of each moment's opportunities.

MOMENT'S OPPORTUNITIES TODAY . . .

. . . IN PREPARATION FOR TOMORROW.

Ultimately we are all involved in preparing for the future– preparing for what we will do who we will be as persons tomorrow.

In the future we will be pursuing education a life-long process involving the gaining of knowledge the building up of self-discipline the acquiring of understanding of wisdom about our lives and the lives of others.

To be truly educated we must understand and manifest the concept, "we are members
one of another,"
allowing our lives to lovingly exhibit truth in all things speaking truly dealing truly living truly causing our lives to be the fullest example of man in his capacity for truth allowing our lives to be a clear articulation of God's love for mankind
In preparation for tomorrow
let us
"the members one of another," grow up in every way into him
enfolded in love
that we might arrive at mature manhood
the completeness of personality which is nothing less than the unparalleled height of Christ's own perfection.

To the Graduates of 1968:

The world into which you were born, in which you have lived, and into which you are now graduating from Bethany Christian High School, is a world that has been disrupted and torn apart by strife and hatred. Out of this strife and hatred has come a world that is suffering, hungering and longing for a gleam of hope as it peers from the darkness of today's struggle.

In this time of turmoil there is a place of quietness, there is a position of stability, there is a source of peace from which the world has been led astray. This place is a person—Jesus Christ in you!

In the center of the devastating forces of the hurricane there is an "eye" where all is clear and calm, where the gulls safely soar, where the clouds are missing, where the sea is calm and at peace. In the "eye" there is safety.

In the pressures and precautions of his time, David experienced comfort and courage knowing that the "eyes" of the Lord are UPON the righteous." In the time of Peter, when to be a Christian meant death, he found assurance for himself and others in the fact that "the eyes of the Lord are OVER the righteous . . . . and who is going to do you wrong if you are devoted to what is good?" Where the eyes of God pierce through the gloom of your world there you will find calm, peace, and courage.

The "eye" of our stormy world where destruction seems to prevail is "Christ in you". There, and there only, will you find calm and courage to follow in the steps of Jesus. There, and only there, will you find what your world needs most. Out of this treasure within, God would have you share with His world today. It is my hope for each of you that you will truly find yourself in the "eyes of God" and that from that position of strength your life will be a constant source of redemptive refreshment.

Sincerely,

Paul E. Yoder

Seniors have always been well known and respected for their intelligence and maturity. Our class, being no exception, has thoroughly enjoyed this new status and the privileges that go with "being older," like sitting in the front in chapel and heading the lunchline a little more often.

We have been a very hard-working and fun-loving class. This, combined with our unique mixture of personalities, has made our fish fries, Jr.-Sr. Banquet, and senior trip to EXPO wonderful and unforgettable experiences. But every day at Bethany has been an experience, too. We've learned so much here, and now we are ready to face the world as individuals with dreams for the future.

The intellectual class? The humorous class? The productive class? ah, yes! All this and more, carefully wrapped into one big bag of riots, the Junior class. The ability to postpone assignments or cancel them out completely has been somewhat of an issue with us, but what else can you do when you see a teacher is becoming over-loaded? Despite this conspiracy, we have learned to plan together, and work together in all that we have done. And now as our final year approaches may we strive to be an example to the classes who try to be like us but never succeed.

Two of the more of less studious Juniors match wits in a game of chess.

Frequently, when traversing the halls of Bethany, one becomes aware of groups or individuals drawing attention to themselves by doing something quite out of the ordinary. Seniors? Perhaps! Freshmen? Sometimes! Sophomores? Invariably!

But who are the sophomores? Just a bunch of kooks who apparently haven't outgrown acting like freshmen? I think not. Scratch a sophomore, and you will find a unique individual, having a lot of fun and in love with life!

AND SOPHISTICATION.

Yes, we are the freshmen, the so-called bottom rung. On September 5 we were met with 230 new faces, some new regulations, and a school set up with a different but definite purpose. Since that first day we have done our best to adjust to all of these.

Being a freshman has its good and bad points. We are the poor and starving creatures who sit in Home Room while content upperclassmen return from lunch. We are the bewildered faces who accept our first demerits. But we are also the class who can get away with some pretty weird things, just because we ARE freshmen.

We may be the bottom rung, but we are slowly working our way up.

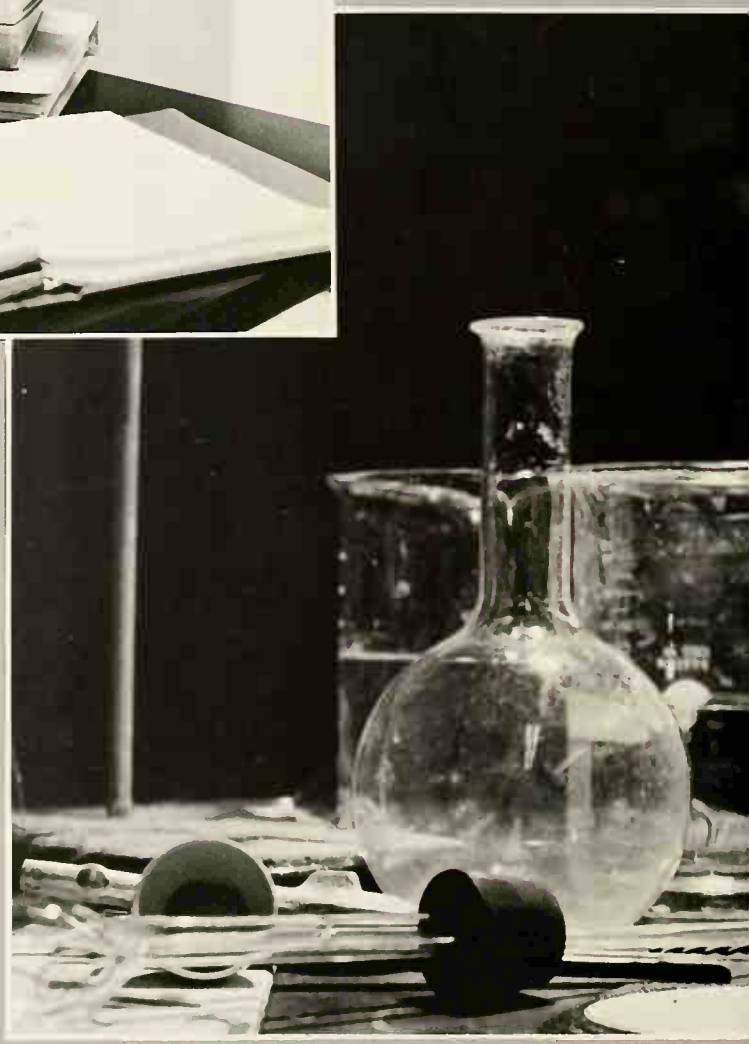
AND SINCERITY



ACADEMIC

ENGLISH GENERATES

Joe is overwhelmed by the great diversity of American Literature.

English, the vital tool of communication, the key to social acceptance, the gateway to new and exciting experiences through reading.

Four years of English are offered at Bethany. The first three are required, while a fourth year is recommended for college-bound seniors.

The basics of grammar are studied and reviewed each year. Freshmen and sophomores study introductory courses which include different types of literature. Juniors specialize a little bit when they analyze the immense wealth of American literature. English literature is the sole content of the senior literature course which varies from the playwright Shakespeare to the novelist Dickens.

Barb concentrates on a lecture in English class.

SELF-EXPRESSION

Writing themes promotes creativity and practical use of grammar.

JOURNALISM . . .

The newspaper—the end product of journalistic technique.

Brian studies the fundamentals of journalism.

CREATIVITY WITHIN A PATTERN

Discussion groups praise and criticize the work of other students.

After a two year lay-off, a journalism class was again formed at Bethany this year. The purpose of the class is to gain knowledge of the mechanics of journalism. This is accomplished by writing news stories, learning the techniques of a good reporter, gaining knowledge of all phases of journalistic writing (sports, features, editorials, etc.) plus learning how to communicate effectively in all areas of one's writing. Some members of the class are on the staff of the REFLECTOR, the school paper which is being issued twelve times this year. Many practical skills learned in the journalism class are put to good use by those who work on the REFLECTOR.

Going along with the emphasis on "journalistic communication," the class took a field trip to Chicago in late November. The 19 class members visited radio station W.L.S.' studios, the Chicago C.B.S. news center, and the CHICAGO TRIBUNE newspaper, where they learned much about the publishing of a big city newspaper.

AND SELF-CONFIDENCE

Mr. Kauffman's junior-senior speech class is one of those rare periods in the day when one can completely enjoy himself and yet learn something through practicing and listening to self expression.

Along with prepared speeches, chapel speakers are praised and criticized, and troubling subjects are openly discussed to promote ease and skill in formal speaking. The knowledge gained here will be easily applied and will be very useful in college as well as in every day speaking.

"Landscaping the Lasts"

First-year foreign language students become acquainted with their language by memorizing conversations, giving short speeches and by learning the rudiments of the grammatical structure. The intricacies of grammar and a wealth of reading await the second-year German and Spanish students. The third and fourth years of language work involve the study of literature, reading, and the presentation of a play.

Caroling parties, a trip to Chicago and a Spanish supper help to introduce the students to a more practical application of their knowledge.

THE FOG OF THE PAST

Rodney campaigns as William Crawford in the 1824 presidential election.

World history seeks to present the beginning student of history with a total picture of the development of man. The rise and fall of the world's greatest civilizations and empires as well as man's cultural and technological achievements are outlined. This course provides the basis for future study of history.

As juniors follow the course of American history they begin to understand the origins of much of our literature, art and music. At the same time they study the factors which caused the American experiment to succeed and contributed to its rise to world power.

Government, a one-semester senior course, is intended to make a student aware of his responsibility and role in government as an American citizen and as a Christian. It also demonstrates the conduct of government on all levels.

Sociology attempts to teach a high school student to live happily and peacefully with his fellow-men. A study of communism, its strengths and weaknesses; an introduction to economics; family and community relations and a brief survey of cultures, languages and religions of other countries comprise the course.

SCIENCE PREPARES STUDENTS FOR OUR COMPLEX WORLD

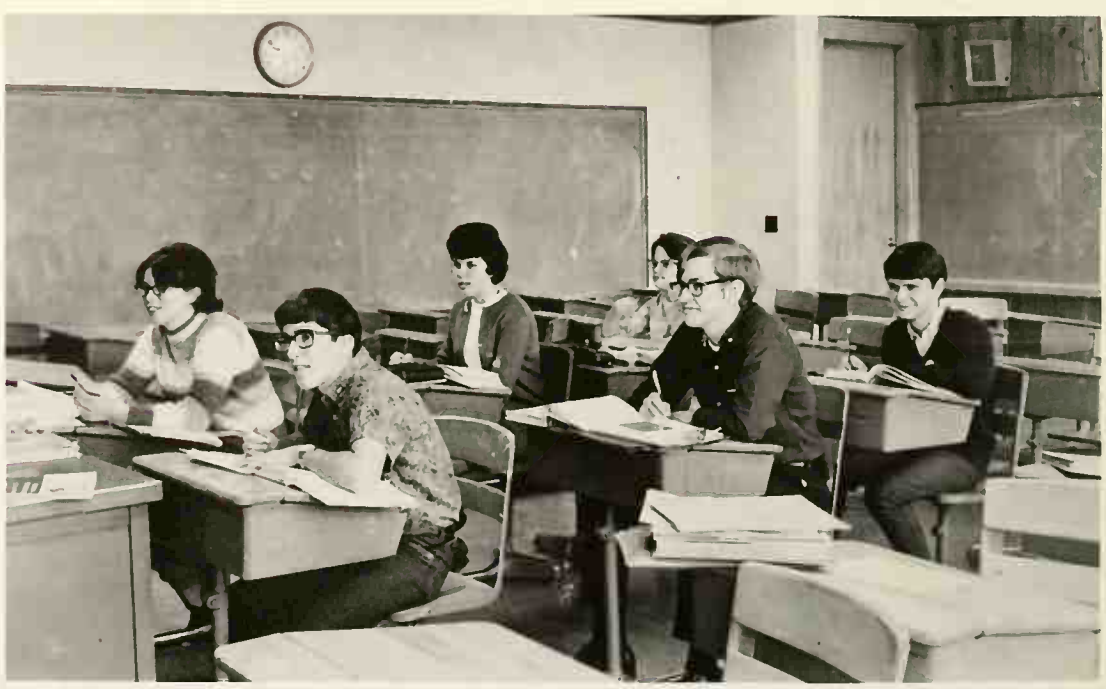
Biology students determine the sugar content of carrots.

Two of the more informative and interesting courses, chemistry and physics, are taught by Dean Hartman. In these classes, the physical aspects of our world are studied. Thoughts about such basic things as molecular structure, heat, motion, and light cause students to become increasingly aware of our surroundings, and of the intricate world that God has created.

Most freshmen and sophomores are enrolled in one of the two other science courses offered at Bethany, namely biology and earth science. Biology students are largely concerned with life in animals, life processes, and how life continues in the world around them. Those students taking earth science study such things as soil erosion, star formations, geology, and other physical aspects of the earth.

Introductory Analysis often requires assistance.

MATHEMATICS . . . THE FOUNDATION OF SCIENCE



Mr. Graber strikes again!

Archimedes, Euclid, Zeno and Paul Miller.

Five courses in mathematics are offered at Bethany. Most freshmen are enrolled in one of the two sections of Algebra I taught by Mr. Lehman. They study the basic laws, axioms, and operations of algebra. During this first year it is hoped that students will obtain a firm grounding in the fundamental algebraic skills since the following years will be only advanced adaptations of these basic skills.

In the second year of algebra, students study the same skills but work for speed and accuracy. Towards the end of the second year, trigonometry is introduced along with the basics in analytical logic.

The geometry course taught by Mr. Graber helps students to reason logically, proving theorems by induction and deduction. This course also prepares students for their final year of math. Mr. Graber teaches this senior course called Introductory Analysis. Within its wide scope lie vector functions, ordered fields, and probability.

HOME ECONOMICS . . . A ROAD TO BETTER LIVING

If you want to find enthusiasm, just visit a home economics class. There are four years of home economics offered under the direction of Mrs. Friesen. Students find themselves using the imagination and creativity they thought they never had. Cooking, sewing, home nursing, meal planning, decorating, and child care are only a few of the skills taught in the home economics classes that are useful now and hopefully will be in the future.

COMMERCE . . . EFFICIENCY AND SKILL

The commercial courses that are offered at Bethany enable the students who may be the future members of the business world to develop adequate preparation for their coming work. Two typing classes are offered and are concerned mainly with establishing efficiency and accuracy as well as speed. For the student who is interested in accounting there is bookkeeping. In this course he learns the basic fundamentals of keeping accurate records. However, for those students who do not pursue a business career, the skills and methods taught in these classes will help them in their own personal lives.

HEALTH

Students take notes during Mr. Friesen's lecture on drugs.

How do people function—mentally and socially—as well as physically? Why does a person's head ache and stomach grumble? These are some of the many questions that are answered in health class which is taught by Mr. Friesen. A field trip to Aux Chandelles supplemented the class work, teaching many things which could not be taught in the classroom.

Health is a requirement for all fellows, but girls may replace it with two years of home economics. However, many girls choose to take both health and home economics.

SEARCHING FOR TRUTH

Freshmen students studying the Old Testament work on a model of the tabernacle for a project.

Mr. Hostetler leads four sections of junior-senior Bible in a study of Genesis and Mark. He hopes that each student will look at the Bible not as a group of facts, but as God's words to them. In class, through group discussion and looking at the facts, they arrive at conclusions. Each student is free to express his views while respecting those of others.

Church history, taught by Mr. Brenneman, observes the progress of the Christian church. The last three weeks of this course are devoted to a specific study of Mennonite history.

Freshmen and sophomores study the Old and New Testaments. They discover the Old Testament's message for them and study Christ's ministry while on earth as presented in the New Testament.

Steve searches for an answer during Victorious Living class.

MUSIC

Nearly all freshmen take Music I. At the beginning of the year, students learn the basic forms of music. Later they move into scales structure, rhythmic patterns and music terminology.

Sophomores in Music II study form, music fundamentals, the history of music, and the science of sound. This year the sophomore wrote their own compositions, by first writing a melody, adding harmony, and finally writing words to fit their songs.

Music classes are a great deal of help for students who are interested and plan to be in choruses, class ensembles, and orchestra.

Music I students study scales—the basis of all music.

EXPRESSION THROUGH ART

During the last two periods of the day, six students under the supervision of Mrs. Bauer, use their imaginations and artistic abilities to create and design such things as collages, wire and wax sculptures, abstract designs, and swirl papers.

Since this is a small class, the students can work together on class projects. But at 3:30 their creative endeavors must be laid aside until the next day.

Verton checks over some receipts and expenditures before entering them in his farm account book.

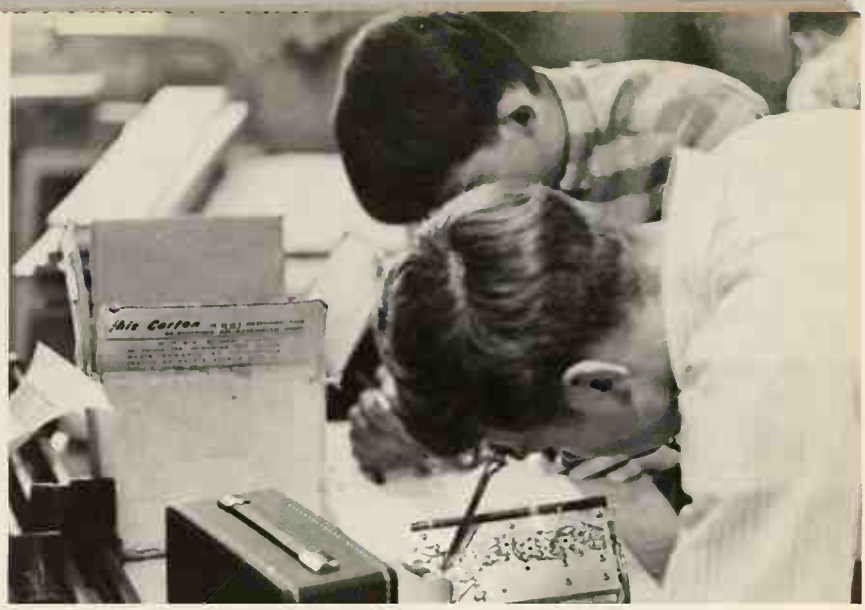
Each year between ten and fifteen fellows are enrolled in each of the three agricultural courses taught by Mr. Culp. The members of the Animal Husbandry class study the care and characteristics of the many animals raised on the farm. Another course on soils and crops introduces the students to the planting, growing habits, harvesting, and other characteristics of familiar farm crops along with discussing the various types of soil in which these crops are grown. Farm management, normally a junior or senior course, presents the financial problems of managing a farm and how to cope with them.

Students in a soils and crops class take notes on one of Mr. Culp's lecture.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS . . .

Verton repairs an intake manifold.

BUILDING TOMORROW



Radio work can be a useful as well as an enjoyable hobby.

The industrial arts department consists of five different fields. These are mechanics, metalworking, electricity, woodworking, and drawing. A course in technical drawing trains students in the art of drafting, while in the architectural drawing class students become skilled in the area of architectural designing.

The fellows taking electricity learn the basic fundamentals of electrical construction in building, along with electronics and radio work. The aim of students enrolled in metalworking is to become proficient in constructing objects from sheet metal, angle iron, steel rod, etc.

Woodworking students design and work on their own projects which include in the second year the construction of grandfather clocks. The fellows enrolled in mechanics have as their goal to have a complete understanding of engines, cars, and machines to the extent that they can repair them when necessary.

Technical drawing students apply newly-acquired skills.

Amid the hectic routine of going to and from classes, studying, listening to lectures, and taking tests, there is a period of relaxation and enjoyment, a physical education class. Required for at least two years, this program provides the needed stimuli by offering individual sports such as gymnastics, handball, track and field, and a large variety of team sports including basketball, soccer, football, and volley ball.

Together these activities help the individual to gain profficiency and knowledge of skills while providing a period of relaxation during his regular academic schedule.

Cameras, mats, brain-storming, typing and sleepy days. This was the life of the 1968 WITMARSUM staff. Tradition and originality were combined to produce a book unique in its composition and character.

Each person who participated not only received the satisfaction of a job well done, but also learned more about handling responsibility and working with others toward a common goal.

Into the pages of the WITMARSUM went pictures and records that will remind us of what will, in the future, become "the good old days back at Bethany." Early acquaintances and outstanding incidents will be relived as we look between its covers. When we have homes of our own, we will be able to sit down with our children to talk and laugh over the way things were.

STAFF

This year's REFLECTOR production totaled twelve issues, several more than in any previous year. Many hours of hard labor and overtime provided the student body with general news, coming events, feature articles, sports rundowns, and editorials written by the editors. Also included in each issue were several columns, such as W.A.K. (We Are Konfused), "The Grapevine," a summary of humorous happenings around the school, and "Senior Sketches," which helped fellow students to become better acquainted with the members of the senior class. During the year, the REFLECTOR sponsored a writing contest for all those who enjoy expressing their own ideas in short story or poetry form. The winning masterpieces were then printed in the next issue.

The REFLECTOR calls for extra time and effort that would not ordinarily be necessary. More important, however, than developing skills which may be useful in the future, is learning to work together as a team, to achieve a goal, and to be a service to those around you.

ORCHESTRA

This year the orchestra nearly doubled in size, but the ever-present lack of string instruments recurred. This shortage necessitated the playing of several parts written for strings by various wind instruments.

One of the major contributions of the orchestra was the accompanying of the combined choirs at the annual Christmas concert. In addition to this, the orchestra also gave a concert in the spring.

Musical ensembles have been a tradition at Bethany. Each year several new groups are formed. Selection is made under the watchful eye of the music director. Important factors involved are tone quality, and sight reading ability. Some of the activities in which these groups participate include special school functions, chapel programs, and various services in neighboring churches.

The satisfaction of working together and being able to give a witness through song are two of the rewarding benefits of being a part of an ensemble.

VARSITY CHORALE

The three choruses which compose Bethany's choral department were selected by Mr. Darrell Hostetler, who also directs all but the Varsity Chorale.

The A Cappella chorus was responsible for many of the programs given in the area churches. Besides this, they gave a number of programs at school and attended the annual Mennonite choral festival, held in Iowa this year. From the seniors in the A Cappella chorus, a group known as the Chamber Singers was selected. This group gave several programs, combining lighter, faster moving secular music with an informal atmosphere.

The Varsity Chorale was directed by Mrs. Charles Kauffman for the first semester and Mr. John McCarthy during the second semester. The Chorale gave several programs in churches and at school. Their repertoire included a number of folksongs, some of which will be appearing in the new Mennonite hymnal.

The Freshman-Sophomore chorus was a new feature in our music department this year. It was created because the large number of new students who had been in choruses in Junior High School showed an interest in such a chorus.

This year two new clubs were established and one club split into four smaller clubs, making a total of eleven clubs. These eleven clubs, along with Bethany's new chapter of the National Honor Society met monthly and sometimes in the evening. The activities not only helped to acquaint them with fields in which they were especially interested, but also gave opportunities to learn to know each other better.

The Science Club was divided into four specific groups—Electronics and Radio, Aeronautics, Astronomy, and Photography, to facilitate proper emphasis on these areas of interest. Two Drama Clubs were formed out of interest in this area. Their activities included viewing several plays, giving several skits in chapel, and learning how to become proficient actors. Trips, parties, speakers and other projects helped members of the German and Spanish Clubs to better understand people of other cultures. The Audubon Club sponsored the annual Audubon Film Lecture as well as took part in several field trips. The Nurses and Home Ec Clubs provided opportunities for their members to further their knowledge in the areas of homemaking and the nursing profession.

ACTIVITIES

During the middle of July, several members of the class of '68 cut short their vacation from school's anxieties to begin plans on another, their last, fish fry. With the success of the Junior fish fry behind them, morale was high and they looked forward with great expectation. Those expectations were later fulfilled.

Some things which will always be remembered are the clearing of the chapel chairs in two minutes, the panic of hearing the fish fry was turning out to be a disaster and the ecstasy 10 minutes later of finding out that that was far from true. The most rewarding thing about the fish fry, however, was not the mere fact that it was a success, but the comments which were heard afterwards: "This is one of the best fish fries I've ever attended at Bethany."

We didn't bring this many in, did we?

DESTINATION:

Three chartered buses left BCHS at 4:00 p.m. on October 3, 1967. These buses were bearing 90 seniors and sponsors to a long awaited destination, Montreal, Canada and Expo '67. The impressive displays of the world's ingenuity proved educating as well as entertaining.

After sleeping in the buses the first night, an abandoned Catholic school the second night, and a nice motel the third night, the buses pulled into Niagara Falls on the fourth day. They stayed long enough to view the beautiful lights on the Falls and then headed for home.

Upon arriving at BCHS, a few of the sleepier said, "What? ANOTHER rest stop?" But this was the last stop of their senior trip. These kids were no different than those in the past when they could say, "I'll never forget it!"

"Olde Switzerland" was the theme and a small Swiss village was the scene of the 1967 Junior-Senior Banquet. More than anything else, the atmosphere of the banquet made it a success. The soft sounds of Swiss music and mechanical coo-coo's from the clock shop, the cobblestone street, the old wooden fence, and the beautiful background of the mountains pervaded the air with tranquility. The long-to-be-remembered evening was highlighted by the showing of the film "Third Man on the Mountain."

STUDENT TEACHER

On the morning of February 6, a visitor at Bethany might have thought the world was turning up-side down. Students were attempting to take charge of classrooms, while what appeared to be teachers sat at the back of the rooms, reading MAD magazines or throwing chalk.

Had these people all gone crazy? Of course not! They were vigorously celebrating the traditional Student Teacher Day, sponsored by the Student Council. The day gave both students and teachers a break from routine, and was a profitable experience for all.

Student teachers wielded their authority by taking over the teacher's lounge, cutting into the front of the lunch line, and dismissing school five minutes early. By the end of the day most agreed, however, that although teaching is fun, they wouldn't want to have to do it every day.

LEAGUE BASEBALL

In Bethany's first year of county league baseball, the Braves weathered many a storm, and for the most part came out on the short end. With only one returning player, the Braves started from scratch. Because of lack of experience and practice it seemed that when the Bethany bats spoke they did not speak together. The defense seemed to parallel with offense as the team's inexperience showed its face.

Even when there weren't many fans to cheer them on or when the team had not practiced for some time, the boys gave it their best effort and managed to finish regular season play with one win.

Next year as a more experienced team again faces competition they will most likely be able to do a better job.

This year the intramural program, under the direction of Mr. Bodiker, was quite active. Teams were organized to compete in flag football in the fall, basketball and volleyball during the winter, and softball in the spring. Individual tourneys in handball, chess and table tennis were also held.

The intramural program, which emphasized participation more than victory, included, in one or more of its activities, approximately sixty per cent of the boys. For the first time, a running score was kept for the individuals and classes that participated in the program.

Once again another year has rapidly vanished. We have learned many essential things that will always be a part of our lives. Perhaps the most valuable is a closer awareness of other people and our need for a solid relation with others.

Some of the more stressed areas, such as studious learning, physical activities, and spiritual understanding, have certainly strengthened our personalities and characters. Our accomplishments through the years have been the result of constant application of discipline. We deeply appreciate what Bethany Christian High School has done to aid us in the attaining of our goals.

Many of us have discovered some of the basic answers for the future. Now comes the opportunity to apply those answers and to discover to a fuller extent what life is all about.

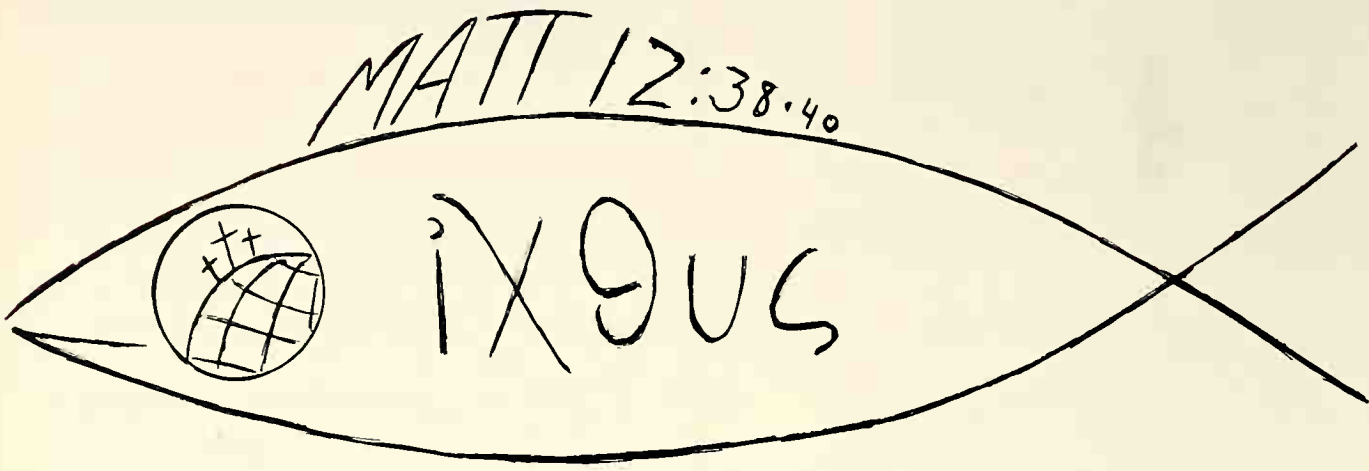
This is the only sign or symbol that Christ gave identifying Himself to be of Supernatural Lineage.



1. The fin on top note the Bible reference.
2. The eye shows the world for which Christ shed His blood.
3. The empty cross in context of the fish is a symbol of His resurrection.
4. The plain fish was the first known symbol of the Christian faith found on the tombs of believers.
5. Later it was found that in Greek - ICHTHUS simply meant "fish" and nothing more. In early Christian symbolism the five Greek characters were used as a rebus meaning "Jesus Christ, God's Son, Savior."

THIS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT PAGE OF THE '68 WITMARSUM. HEREWITH ARE CONTAINED THE VARIOUS

To Carol Helmuth who wrote captions and headings for the student section. Moore's Studios provided the senior portraits and various group photos. The cirlce of pages 68-69 was drawn with the aid of a "Graphic Proportion Dial" provided by Inter-Collegiate Press.

Indiana School Pictures furnished underclassmen photos. Advertising and index organization is the fruit of Sandy Lambright's labors. Christmas Banquet pages were ruled with a Sterling 592 patent No. P-158.145. John Yoder and Dennis Martin combined for much of the photographic productions. Mr. Lester Culp spent many hours developing, printing, and enlarging films in addition to taking many group shots.

Headings were drawn with a Colobrite Blue 2125. Senior captions were by Kathy Bennett and Carol Helmuth. Rodney Maust assisted Paul Hartman in countless financial matters. Faithful sponsors, Mr. Bauer and Mr. Culp provided essential encouragement and criticism.

BITS OF INFORMATION WHICH YOUR $3.00 ENTITLES YOU TO AND WHICH AID IN SOLVING THE MYSTERIES

Many thanks to Becky Bair for her hours of assistance in the editorial capacity. To Dave Weldy and John Bauman who supervised the sports department. The assistance of Martin Honderich was much appreciated, especially in view of his inability to find anything to write about B.C.H.S. math classes.

Kathy Bennett provided valuable assistance in planning the academic section. To Ganger's Grill, the location of much nourishment and inspiration (as well as money drain).

Refreshment on Tuesday evening, January 9th provided courtesy of Frito Lay Inc., Williamson Candy Co., Mars Inc., and E. J. Brach and Sons.

Many thanks to the nameless students who contributed copy for various classes and organizations.

This annual was printed by Inter-Collegiate Press which also provided many inside tips and guidelines. Royal typewriters with "magic margins" courtesy of B.C.H.S.

OF PRODUCTION.

Julia
You've been a wonderful friend and loving friend this year. I'm sure you'll never forget the many great times we've had this year and the few bad ones also. Thanks for listening to my many problems and helping me solve them also.
I'll never forget those exciting Friday nights when we bowled. Our great bowling trips.
Best of luck in the future.
Brenda

Julie,
To a classy upper classman who is really tough and can bowl good.
Luv ya, Jackie

Julie,
To a real wonderful friend. I've really liked knowing you as a friend and I hope I'll be seeing you around some more. Good luck in your future. a friend
Joan

Julia,
Do a very sweet friend.
We've been friends in fun years and once it hate to see it go. Get busy next year and make some for yourself ahead. Agreed? - I especially will miss our gab sessions on keene Co - quite the chats! Best of luck in everything to you. Love Kathie
P.S. April Fool. Kathy

Julie-

To a very nice and fun-loving girl who I've really learnt to know better this year. Never forget all our noon-time experiences in the Home Ec Room.

Be good and the best of luck in all you do.

A Friend,
Sandi

Julie -
To a fellow - orch. - shocker
Luv

Julie,
To a wonderful roommate and fellow orchestra member that's grown to appreciate during the last two years. Best wishes and good luck in your college career.
Love,
Pam

Julie
You're quite a character - I must say. It was fun getting acquainted with you last year and this. Thanks for making my years here at RCHS fun.
Love ya,
Sharon

Julie,
To a good friend and a BUT. Remember our meeting in the strawberry patch & the fun we had just gooping around? Best of luck in the future and take good care of yourself.
Love,
Cheryl

Julie-
To a real friend. Don't ever forget all the fun we had at RCHS. Also remember 5th and 7th period. Honor Study chats and all the talks and fun we had. Don't ever lose that sweet personality and smile. Don't forget the trip to Boston, the Sr. trip, and all the rest. Best of luck in all you do. We really enjoyed knowing you this year.
Friendship
A friend,
Donna

Julie,
To one of those people I'm glad I've known. Have a great summer & keep in touch.
Love ya,
Patty

Sunday
To do next week and when I get it Monday letter morning I depart in the chapel, Best target ade de fun thing we have had especially on the Sunset trip.
a great friend,
